

SCHOLARSHIPS FOR STUDENTS OF MĀORI DESCENT

Kia ora Taura,

I have listed some websites that you can visit to look for scholarships specifically designated for students of Māori descent. You will need to check the closing date and the requirement for any scholarship you find on these data bases before you proceed.

University of Otago data base

Search the University of Otago data base via this link, and use the search function at the bottom of the page

http://www.otago.ac.nz/study/scholarships/undergraduate\_scholarships.html .

Breakout database

The Breakout database is another great site to check out scholarship but you need to enter via the University for access to this database <http://www.fis.org.nz/> (don't print forms off site, just look at the possibilities)

Māori Education Trust Undergraduate Scholarships

The Māori Education Trust holds a number of scholarships for Māori Students please check out their scholarships online at www.maorieducation.org.nz There are 20 scholarships administered by the Māori Education Trust and the full criteria is available online.

Te Tapuae o Rehua

Te Tapuae o Rehua administers a number of scholarships and grants full eligibility criteria please check out online at www.tetapuae.co.nz The also administer Ngai Tahu grants and scholarships.

ALSO:

A good way to find information on the scholarship and sometimes the application is to google the name of the scholarship.

There may also be scholarships from schools, companies, and local or tribal trust boards which the University holds no information so ask around.
